2.	09/06/2026-15/06/2026	My Experience as an Intern – Best Out of Waste Activity As part of my internship with the kind beings , I participated in the “Best Out of Waste” activity aimed at environmental conservation through recycling and creative reuse of materials. For this task, I reused a waste plastic bottle and transformed it into a planter for a Bougainvillea (Bougainvillea) plant. Instead of discarding the bottle, I gave it a new purpose by using it to grow a plant, thereby reducing waste and contributing to a greener environment. This activity taught me the importance of recycling and how simple household waste materials can be converted into useful and eco-friendly products. It enhanced my creativity and increased my awareness about sustainable living practices. Seeing the plant grow in the recycled bottle was a rewarding experience and showed me how small efforts can make a positive impact on the environment. Overall, this activity was both educational and enjoyable, strengthening my commitment to environmental responsibility and inspiring me to adopt more sustainable habits in daily life.

(Cleanliness Drive)

"I participated in a cleanliness drive by cleaning a designated area of a local park while wearing a mask and hand gloves. This activity helped me understand the importance of cleanliness, teamwork, and social responsibility. It was satisfying to contribute to keeping the environment clean and creating awareness about proper waste disposal. This experience motivated me to continue practicing and promoting cleanliness in my daily life." If you worked in a group, you can add:
